December 2, 2008

Dear Sara,

Can you believe that after months of meticulous planning and careful consideration the 2008 ICF Annual International Conference has come to a close? We are both very thankful for the amount of energy you have expended the last year as a member of a Conference Education subcommittee. And for that, we are very grateful.

Thank you for sacrificing your time to ensure that the conference would be the must-attend coaching event of the year. Because of you, it was! On behalf of the ICF, we deeply value your dedication to the association and its members, as well as your commitment to raising the bar for future conference education. Because of you, coaches of all experience levels have received the education they need to continue to advance the art, science, and practice of professional coaching in all areas of the world.

We are so appreciative for all that you did to ensure the success of the conference in Montréal. We commend you for a job well done and a memorable contribution to the ICF and the annual international conference. We look forward to seeing you next December in Orlando where the foundation you helped lay will continue to grow!

Warm Regards,
